7. BGD&C CUSTOM HOMES CHICAGO

The industrial appeal of this Chicago dwelling blends into the cityscape with a brick-and-limestone façade and copper-clad bay windows. Inside, dark metal accents, beam ceilings and steel fixtures add allure.

8. CHARLES HILTON ARCHITECTS NEW YORK

The great room in this Greenwich, Connecticut, residence was inspired by the spacious lobbies of luxurious hotels visited by the owner. Three large arches open to the home's cross halls, and bronze accents in the railings and custom light fixtures add a sense of opulence.

9. CURTIS & WINDHAM ARCHITECTS HOUSTON

American classical architecture abounds in this Houston abode. Intended to be occupied in a formal manner, features such as a living room, coved ceiling, white and gray flooring and regal columns elevate the design.

10. JEFFREY DUNGAN ARCHITECTS SOUTHEAST

Traditional European architecture was carefully melded with modern luxury in this Knoxville, Tennessee, dwelling. Highly textural materials including stone, wood and plaster combine to create rooms with clean lines and abundant light.

11. PAUL BRANT WILLIGER, ARCHITECT INC. LOS ANGELES

Although the exterior of this Woodside, California, house is fashioned in the Spanish Colonial style, each room inside has its own personality. The second floor of the residence was eliminated, giving the living room and master bedroom airy vaulted ceilings.

12. ANDERS LASATER ARCHITECTS SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Originally built as a horse barn in 1911, this Newport Beach, California, cottage has been reimagined over the last century. In its latest iteration, the kitchen and master bathroom were artfully expanded without interfering with the original structures.
