Celebrating Fine Design, Architecture, and Building

Calm & Collected

Modern Classic

Charles Hilton, founder of Greenwich-based Charles Hilton Architects and a member of the New England Design Hall of Fame, recently released his first book, and it's filled with jaw-dropping photos that will whet the appetites of architecture aficionados everywhere. From bird's-eye views of sprawling coastal estates to detailed shots of intricate millwork, Classic Greenwich Houses

(The Monacelli Press, $55, September 2020) showcases nine homes designed by Hilton, a traditionalist who favors Georgian, Beaux-Arts, and Shingle-style architecture, but doesn't shy away from cutting-edge technology and sustainable modalities. It's easy to lose yourself in the grand hallways, manicured gardens, and commanding fireplaces found within this book's 240 pages.
